USER STORIES

I am a keen cyclist and I love to take photos on my various rides with friends and normally add them to my Strava activity or share them separately on Facebook. I would love an App that could allow me to share my ride data all at once, but also pick & choose which photos to share and add in notes if desired.

Mary is the project coordinator of a charity cycle. She wants to be able to create blog posts etc. after the event, but she also wants to single out specific achievements of various athletes who have overcome many mental and physical obstacles to complete the event. Being able to add data visualisations to her blog post would achieve this.

John is PRO of a large cycling club who have been awarded the hosting of the Munster Cycling Championships. He wants a platform where he can publish the results of the event, along with images and the impressive data of the overall winners and various category (speed, climbing, averages, power, etc.) winners.
